Pure Michigan® Trail and Trail Town Designation Program

Pure Michigan® Trail, Water Trail and Trail Town Designation Program Background

In 2014, the Michigan Trailways Act was revised (Act 451 of 1994, Part 721) to add the Department of Natural Resources' ability to designate trails and towns as Pure Michigan® Trails and Trail Towns. This designation is designed to acknowledge Michigan's position as the nation's trail state. Michigan has an incredible array of trails, developed and maintained by an extensive collaboration among state and local governments, non-profits, foundations and volunteers with exceptional scenic beauty and excellent outdoor recreation opportunities.

An extensive, statewide network of non-motorized and motorized trails:

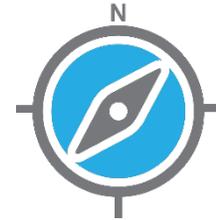

1. Provide for public enjoyment, health and fitness.
2. Serve to encourage constructive leisure-time activities.
3. Protect open space, cultural and historical resources, as well as habitat for wildlife and plants.
4. Enhance the local and state economies as tourism becomes a prominent part of the area.
5. Link communities through alternative transportation, parks and natural resources.
6. Create opportunities for rural-urban exchange, agricultural education and the marketing of farm products.
7. Preserve corridors for possible future use of other public purposes.

The trails that will be designated represent the best in the state. This handbook serves as a guide for the applications for the Pure Michigan® Trail and Trail Town Designation Program.

Pure Michigan® Trail Criteria

The DNR, in designating a trail and in addition to requirements outlined in Act 451, Part 721, will seek to ensure the following:

1. A quality trail experience
2. Clear information for users
3. Broad community support
4. A sustainable business, maintenance and marketing plan

1. A quality trail experience

- a. The trail is either a part of a state network or in the trail proposal process. If this is not complete, there is adequate proof of completion within a year.
- b. The trail is permanently open for public use and is at least five miles or more in length, providing access to significant scenic features.
- c. Support facilities which may include, where feasible, parking, restrooms and emergency phones are available and accessible.
- d. Wherever possible, programmed activities are available. This allows for an increased enjoyment of the trails and a better understanding of the natural and cultural resources related to them.
- e. Encourages safety and respect for the surrounding environment.
- f. Unless the trail is primarily a looped trail or intended for a one-day trip or less, lodging is available for at least the following: every 12 miles for trails primarily used by walkers; every 15 miles for trails primarily used by cross country skiers; every 40 miles for trails primarily used by bikers; every 40 miles for trails primarily used by equestrians and every 100 miles for trails primarily used by snowmobile or ORV riders.
- g. The trail's terrain and setting will be considered, including its slope, tread, drainage techniques, structures and vegetation management.
- h. Accessibility standards are met and exceeded where feasible and the trail is available for public use and enjoyment on a nondiscriminatory basis.

2. Clear information for users

- a. The trail is marked with an appropriate amount of both regulatory and wayfinding signage (to help users stay on path and be aware of where they are) throughout its length. Signs are also encouraged to include directions to nearby businesses.
- b. Accessibility information is provided and standards for accessibility are met.
- c. Wayfinding signage and information on parking and directions are provided.
 - i. Signs are also encouraged to include directions to nearby amenities and cultural resources.
 - ii. Wayfinding signs are also encouraged to include directions to nearby services and attractions.
- d. The trail is identified on a website or other digital means of communication, including social media, with a map that can be printed and is appropriately keyed to make the user aware of its location, length, hazards, level of difficulty and trail-related amenities. Web information is encouraged to also include information on nearby amenities and cultural resources.

3. Broad community support

- a. The trail has a resolution of support for the designation of the trail as a Pure Michigan® Trail by the local unit of government, authority or non-profit that is primarily responsible for it.
- b. The trail enhances the local community and its culture, businesses and more.
- c. The trail's setting is its underlying attraction including its landscape, features, historic or unique built features and skylines, native vegetation, water features and lighting.
- d. Local opportunities to enhance a user's experience in the area, as well as needed facilities in case of an emergency, overnight stay and the like will be considered, including shopping, lodging, food options and medical services.

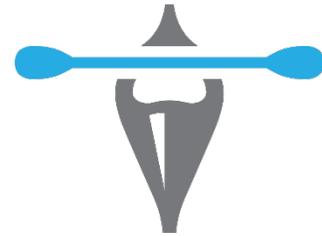

4. A sustainable business, maintenance and marketing plan

- a. There is adequate enforcement of trail rules and regulations.
- b. Construction and maintenance is kept up with, including fencing.
- c. A plan must be in place that identifies the existing and planned amenities associated with the trail and how those amenities will be maintained and enhanced.
- d. A schedule for trail maintenance is established, along with a budget that identifies funding sources and those in charge of its upkeep.
- e. The trail must be supported, managed and maintained by at least one organization. If that organization works with others for the trail, they must create a written agreement with each other. These organizations must broadly represent the community(s), which might include recreation, education, conservation, heritage, business, public safety, health and government organizations, and need to get permission from all people that have an ownership interest over any portion of the trail.
- f. Wherever possible, programmed activities are available. This allows for an increased enjoyment of the trail(s) and a better understanding of the natural and cultural resources related to it.
- g. A way to evaluate the economic impact of the trail at least every five years must be identified, including the trail's users (who they are, where they live—a target market) and money spent on the trail.
- h. A local marketing plan has been developed to promote the trail, types of trail designations and descriptions, location tools and more to gain public interest.

Applicants must complete the application for designation as a Pure Michigan® Trail, Water Trail (application A) or Trail Town (application B) and submit it, along with all required documentation, to the DNR state trails coordinator. Due date for applications is Nov. 1, 2018.

There are two applications: Application A for trails and water trails and application B for trail towns. The application form and all other documents must be attached at the time of submittal to be considered. Submittals can be sent by mail or email.

Trails proposed for Pure Michigan® Trails designations are reviewed against a set of standards and criteria, not by comparison to one another. The review committee evaluates applications through a process that includes the following:

1. A preliminary review by DNR staff of applications for completeness.
2. All complete applications will be presented to the review committee for consideration, discussion and recommendation.
3. A field visit and assessment may be conducted by a review committee member or designee.
4. The review committee will review and discuss applications and any field assessments.
5. The review committee sends a referral of the application back to the applicant with comments or a recommendation to the DNR director for approval from the NRC (which includes a public meeting).
6. Upon approval from the NRC, the DNR state trails coordinator will forward the nomination to the MEDC for a Pure Michigan® license.
7. The NRC approved recommendations will be provided to MTAC.

Definitions and Roles

There are five main parties involved in the process of proposing a Pure Michigan® Trail or Trail Town: The applicant, DNR Trail System and Services Section (DNR Trails), Michigan Trails Advisory Committee (MTAC), Michigan Economic Development Corporation (MEDC) and the Natural Resources Commission (NRC).

Access site: Public (federal, state, county or local units of government) or private land where it is legal for the public to access, launch and land a watercraft into and from its adjoining waters. Access sites will have at least some legal parking along a public roadway. Access sites are also rest areas and may include amenities.

Applicant: Applicants can be individuals, local units of government, authority or non-profits. The applicant is the lead promoter of the trail or trail town and is responsible for coordinating the development of all materials needed for the application. The applicant is responsible for applying and consulting with DNR Trails prior to doing so and during the initial review.

Barrier-free access: A facility and its amenities can be approached, entered and used by persons with disabilities.

Baseline economic impact plan: Does the plan capture trail users' demographics, counts, perceptions of the trail and its usage characteristics? Does the plan showcase the regional business impact including trail-related spending, expansion, new businesses or other indicators?

Designee: The designee is defined as the public or non-profit body that has applied and received state water trail designation on a certain water system.

Easily accessible: Within two miles of the trail unless otherwise designated.

Economic impact assessment report: Evaluates, at a minimum, trail users (trail region demographics, user counts, usage characteristics, demographics of trail users or visitors, their perception of the trail and spending related to trail activities).

Formally adopted: Adopted by a resolution of the governing body overseeing the trail or the city, village or township seeking a Pure Michigan® designation.

Government agency: The federal government, a county, city, village or township—or a combination of these.

Launch: The mechanism used to access the water. Whenever possible, the type of launch should match the context of the surrounding environment. Launch types may include a natural surface (shoreline), paved ramp, geo-textile mat, stairs, dock, cantilever dock, floating dock and designated launch that meet the guidelines to be barrier-free.

Lodging: A place to sleep like a campsite, hut, shelter or other licensed overnight accommodation.

Maintenance plan: Is the plan adequate for maintenance and costs to support a sustainable trail?

Marketing plan: Trails must be marketed in a way that appropriately and efficiently attracts users, addresses the target audience and identifies the best way to reach them.

Michigan Trails Advisory Committee (MTAC): MTAC reviews applications. Applicant's trail designation will either be recommended to the director of the DNR for adoption and submitted to MEDC for licensure, or the application will be returned to DNR Trails and the applicant with comment.

Michigan Economic Development Corporation (MEDC): The DNR director and DNR Trails forwards the signed nomination to MEDC, which offers services pertaining to business assistance and capital programs serving to help attract value and accelerate success, for a Pure Michigan® license.

Natural Resources Commission (NRC): The NRC will be involved within the designation process, checking to see if the proposed trails and trail towns meet all necessary requirements.

Nearby attractions and needed facilities: Local opportunities to enhance a user's experience in the area, as well as needed facilities in case of an emergency, overnight stay and the alike will be considered.

Portage: The practice of carrying a water craft or cargo over land either around an obstacle in a river or between two bodies of water.

Primary access site: A designated, legal access site that is promoted for use by the water trail and serves as a trailhead. The primary access site will have an appropriate launch and landing facility for the context of the site, off-street parking for vehicles, water trail and local wayfinding signage and amenities such as restrooms, potable water, picnic areas and boat racks. A primary access site is also an access site and a rest area.

Programming and educational plan: Is the material engaging and are tours provided for the public, as well as schools?

Pure Michigan® designated trails and trail towns: Trails, water trails or trail towns that have been approved for designation by the DNR and other involved groups following a prescribed process. Designated trails and towns are supported by broad-based community partnerships and a statewide marketing program, which provide conservation, heritage and recreation opportunities.

Resolution of support: By the governing agency for the designation that includes support from all entities that have an ownership interest in the trail.

Rest areas: Places where it is permissible to land a watercraft, but not a place to access the water from a road. Rest areas may have campsites and amenities.

Statewide trail network: The statewide trail network established in section 72114 of Act 451.

Support Facilities: A formal or informal stopping place along the trail that provides services that may be needed or desired by trail users. This includes access sites, primary access sites, rest areas or trailheads.

Trail: A right-of-way adapted to foot, horseback, motorized or other nonmotorized travel. A trail also includes a water trail.

Trail condition: Quality and upkeep of the trail in addition to its terrain will be considered.

Trail design: Trail design is the summation of all design elements that result in the constructed trail and its interaction with the environment. The trail must meet certain requirements for consideration as previously explained.

Trailhead: Public or private land where it is legal for the public to access a right-of-way adapted to foot, horseback, motorized or other nonmotorized travel and provides some legal parking along a public roadway.

Trail map and website link: Evaluate the maps and sites. Check to see if it provides users a variety of ways to understand the trail.

Trail setting: The trail's setting is the underlying attraction of the trail and takes in all the visual, auditory, tactile and olfactory elements of the trail experience.

Water trail: Recreational routes, motorized or non-motorized, on waterways with a network of public access sites.

3. What design standards or other sustainability considerations went into the design and creation of this trail? Please provide documentation for all standards or considerations that you used to determine the trail design. Answers to questions such as: What standards did you use to guide your decision making? Is this an American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) compliant trail? Did you base the design on ADA or did you attempt to make it universally accessible? What design principles or maintenance practices are you using to ensure the life and sustainability of the trail? How are you planning to prevent water and erosion damage? How are you addressing up-and-coming trends in trail uses (electric bikes, larger ORV's, snowmobile studs, boating trends, etc.)?

4. Please document all easily accessible support facilities for the trail open to the public including parking, sanitary facilities, lodging, food and emergency phones.

- If a water trail, also describe access areas and rest areas, contiguous use and open portages along entire length of trail being designated.
